Legal Technologist (m/f/x)

Pioneers welcome! For our newly established Legal Tech Hub in Berlin, we are recruiting Legal Technologists (m/f/x) to join our growing Legal Technology Operations Team.

Take the opportunity to be part of our Berlin team and work on top global mandates and technology projects in a dynamic, international and tech-savvy environment that encourages digital innovation.

Working at Freshfields carries a few promises

You will not be bored. You will face problems you haven't seen before. You will meet interesting people. And you will always work in teams. This calls for a genuine interest in other people and the acceptance of differences. It also means an exceptional willingness to pitch in to get the job done.

As part of our Legal Tech Ops Team, you will be responsible for the use and delivery of legal tech on client matters, as well as maintaining our legal tech tools internally. Your role will make a significant contribution to our firm's success and include:

- Working with the Senior Manager to deliver, oversee and maintain legal technology projects
- During development phases managing proof of concepts and assisting with rollout and user training activities
- Providing a legal tech consultancy service to internal stakeholders as well as advising on best practice and requirements for using legal technology tools in matter delivery
- Tracking usage and KPIs relating to operational use and governance structure for these legal technology tools
- Testing new technology against pre-defined criteria and evaluating performance and efficiency benefits, and keeping up to date with legal technology industry developments and client needs

- Owning basic set up and training on new tools to facilitate their expansion across the firm

Your qualifications

You have a degree in computer science, business information technology or law where you have demonstrated your outstanding abilities. Additionally, you are fluent in German and English (spoken and written). You are familiar with technology principles at a high level such as agile development, SaaS and cloud computing and you have an interest in new and emerging technologies such as AI, machine learning, data room providers and document review platforms. Beyond that, you know how to use your analytical and critical thinking skills as well as your interpersonal skills to work well in an interdisciplinary and international team.

Interested? Then let's talk!
